Visitor Information

You are entering a Wilderness Study Area where certain land use restrictions apply. We ask your cooperation by observing the following:

- All motorized and mechanized vehicle use is prohibited, including 4x4s, all-terrain vehicles, motorcycles and mountain bikes.
- Hiking, backpacking, camping and horseback riding are allowed. Practice "Leave No Trace" principles.
- Please pack out all litter.
- Cutting of live vegetation or standing trees and scrub is not allowed.
- All land use involving surface disturbance is limited and requires prior contact with the Bureau of Land Management.

WHAT IS A WSA?

A Wilderness Study Area (WSA) is an area that is being reviewed by Congress for inclusion into the National Wilderness Preservation System. The BLM has the responsibility to maintain the suitability of these special areas for preservation as wilderness.

Wilderness Study Areas are remote and undeveloped lands which offer primitive and unconfined recreation opportunities and special resource values. Hunting, backpacking, horseback riding, photography are just a few of the opportunities available to public lands visitors.
